Explanation

The bill makes numerous changes to the Department of Consumer Protection statutes resulting in the various potential revenue impacts described below.

- Section 7 establishes fees for architects who do not meet continuing education guidelines ($315 fee for architects who complete it up to 13 weeks after deadline and $625 fee for architects who complete if 13-26 weeks after the deadline) resulting in a potential revenue gain to the extent violations occur.
- Section 10 removes a provision that allows community association managers to pay a $50 fee for renewal applications made more than a month after they expired resulting in a potential revenue loss of less than $1,000 per year.

- Sections 14-17 allows DCP to impose a fine of up to $1,000 per violation for any license, registration, or certificate resulting in a potential revenue gain to the extent violations occur.
- Sections 30-31 allow DCP to issue a $500 fine per violation to mobile manufactured home park licenses if 30 days pass without resolution following a reinspection resulting in a potential revenue gain to the extent violations occur.

The Out Years

The annualized ongoing fiscal impact identified above would continue into the future subject to the number of violations.
