

SB 1024

Legislators,

I write in opposition of S.B. 1024. This is socialistic redistribution of wealth (theft), a degrading of living standards individuals and families have worked hard for, and another cash grab that would just be wasted by government and their cronies whose track record is the poorest in the nation.

If you are truly passionate about improving the affordability of housing, you would be looking at factors driven by years of government mismanagement, regulation, and unintended consequences.

Maybe learn to think outside the box: i.e. cut taxes, reduce the size of government, fix the runaway and unsustainable pension liabilities you have created.

Want a model of success? Go back and look at CT in the 60s, 70s, and some of the 80s. We were tax attractive to both workers and businesses. CT was the envy of the entire country. But in the decades following we have spent ourselves into a hole that the only vision that seems to come out of Hartford is gimmickry like millionaire taxes, the proposed .17 gas tax increase, and S.B. 1024.

There isn't a middle to upper class earner who hasn't at least considered or is making plans to move to a better run state with lower costs of living.

Defeat this onerous attempt at wealth redistribution get to work fixing the problems of CT and enacting (or not) legislation that actually is the interest of your constituents (and taxpayers).

Sincerely,

Geoffrey R. Fowler
