

No to S. B. 1024 The need for more diverse housing in Connecticut *needs to be addressed; however, the individual needs of each community (including cities, suburbs, and rural areas) must be considered .When it comes to development, it's local residents—not the state or special interest groups—who know what works best for our communities.

David Nevin, Litchfield, CT