Explanation

The amendment strikes the underlying bill and results in the following fiscal impacts.

Section 2 creates a variety of requirements around the membership and operations of the Connecticut Siting Council (CSC) and results in a potential cost. The amendment shifts existing requirements for municipal participation as ad-hoc members of the Siting Council but does not increase the number of participants, resulting in no fiscal impact.

This section also empowers the Siting Council to maintain a staff with the expertise necessary to fulfill their mission resulting in a potential cost to the extent that additional staff are required to meet the provisions of the amendment<sup>1</sup>.

Section 3, and Section 10 increases the cost of the municipal participation fee for certain applicants from $25,000 to $40,000 if the facility is within one municipality and from $25,000 to $80,000 if the facility is in more than one municipality with any unused funding returned to the applicant upon completion of the Siting Council process. This results in potential revenue gain to some municipalities to the extent that the additional funding offsets current participation costs.

There is also a potential revenue gain to municipalities beginning in FY 26 to the extent they are awarded funds related to court action.

Section 8 empowers the CSC in certain conditions to impose fines for non-compliance resulting in potential revenue for CSC. The extent of the revenue generated will depend on the number of violations and the restitution and fines imposed.

Section 12 results in no fiscal impact to the state as the Department of Energy and Environmental Protection has federal funding that can be used to hire a consultant to complete a report on the Connecticut Siting Council.
