

in 1879. He edited the Bridgeport Standard during the summer of 1879, and in the winter and spring of 1880 traveled through the southern states. He then went abroad, and from July, 1880, to January, 1881, was in Ireland, engaged in writing up the land league troubles for the London and Irish press. After his marriage in February, 1881, he settled down on a beautiful estate in Perth Amboy, N. J., on Raritan Bay, and filled the position of Professor of History in the Perth Amboy Art School. He died in 1886.

He was married in New York, February 8, 1881, to Jeanie Spring, only daughter of the late Marcus Spring. He had two children: Gilead, born December 25, 1881; Herbert, born October 26, 1883.

CHARLES LEONARD PENDLETON was born in Westerly, R. I., May 20, 1846. He was prepared for college at Phillips Academy, Andover.

Pendleton left the class at the end of the second term Freshman year. He read law in Providence, R. I., and practised in Westerly and Providence. There has been no report from him since 1875.

JOHN HOYT PERRY, son of Oliver Henry and Harriet (Hoyt) Perry, was born in Southport, Conn., July 26, 1848. He was prepared for college at Wilton Academy, Wilton, Conn.

Perry left the class on account of ill health at the end of Sophomore year, but returned to college a year later, and was graduated with the class of '70. He studied law for two years at the Columbia Law School, and began practice in Norwalk, Conn., where he continued for some fifteen years. He then removed his office to Bridgeport, where he formed with his brother the firm of Perry & Perry. He represented the town of Fairfield in the lower house of the state legislature in 1889, and was elected Speaker. In April of that year he was elected Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Fairfield Co. for a term of four years. On the expiration of his term of service he formed, in July, 1893, a new law partnership under the firm name of Perry, Perry & Hill, with offices in Bridgeport, as before. He has continued to reside in his old home, Southport.

He writes in 1894: "As an incentive to learn a little law myself, I have obtained the privilege of teaching Evidence and Commercial Paper in the Yale Law School. I have been a mere country practitioner since graduation, and have lived an exceedingly uneventful life. I have four boys in line for Yale."

Perry was married September 23, 1874, to Virginia Bulkley. He has five children; George Bulkley, born July 6, 1876; John Walter, born March 10, 1879; Richard Andrews, born February 10, 1881; Virginia Bulkley, born April 2, 1883; Hoyt Chetwood, born July 19, 1893.

CARRINGTON PHELPS, son of Edward Arah and Elizabeth Strong (Carrington) Phelps, was born in North Colebrook, Conn., October 3, 1847. He was prepared for college at the South Berkshire Institute, New Marlboro, Mass., finishing with a year under Josiah Clarke, of Northampton, Mass.

Phelps left the class early in Freshman year, and was graduated with the class of '70. After a few months at home he studied law and elocution in New Haven, and was for a time literary editor of the College Courant. He went to Madison, Wis., in 1871, and after being admitted to the bar, removed to St. Paul, Minn., where he practised for some years. He then went to Morris, Minn., where he had a large farm and was President of the First National Bank. He now resides at Lake Minnetonka, Minn.

He was married in Iowa in 1872, and has one son, Carrington Arah Phelps, born May 28, 1876.

ISAAC GARDNER REED was born in Acton, Mass., July 31, 1846. He was prepared for college at Phillips Academy, Andover, and entered college with the class of '68. He left it at the end of first term Sophomore year, and