There is a glaring geographic error in how the CT-1 and CT-5 congressional districts have been drawn which is obvious by just looking at the map. Bristol and New Britain are of comparatively equal size. New Britain is about 10 miles from Hartford, the center of CT-1, while Bristol borders Litchfield County. New Britain should be in CT-1 and Bristol should be in CT-5. This would eliminate the appearance that the districts might have been gerrymandered.

Sincerely,
David Spencer
